| What principles define how you live?

Actually to be honest we grown with some principles, traditional and alot... At some point we would think why we really need those... For me personally I don't believe after some stage of my life... Every coin has two sides... Good and bad, God and evil, even and odd and so on... But i believe third side neutral side both Good and bad had its own good in bad and bad in good...more than saying baiesed being in Grey's...

“Third perspective” it’s my principal...
